

Results of Jim's Unofficial 2010 Sunnyvale Study Issues Survey

On January 5, 2010, I announced my unofficial study issues survey to the community via email to various Sunnyvale neighborhood associations, community discussion forums, and other outlets, along with the suggestion that recipients forward the invitation to participate as they saw fit. The invitation and subsequent deadline reminder was distributed to the following discussion groups, as well as possibly others, unknown to me:

- Morse Park Neighborhood Association
- Ponderosa Park Neighborhood Association
- Ortega Park Neighborhood Association
- Sunnyvale West Neighborhood Association
- Cherryhill Neighborhood Association
- Sunnyvale Café Discussion Group
- Sunnyvale Politics Discussion Group
- Danbury Place Homeowners Association
- Sutton Place Homeowners Association

I believe but cannot confirm that this was additionally forwarded to the SNAIL and Cumberland Neighborhood Association discussion groups and the Put Neighborhoods First in Sunnyvale discussion group.

I established a deadline of 11:59 p.m. Monday January 25th, so to be able to summarize the results in time for them to be used as input for the Study Issues Workshop on Friday January 29th. As of the deadline, I received 50 unique survey responses. The following pages summarize those responses, department-by-department.

Reading the Summary

The summary is broken up by department, with an initial ranking summary, an initial drop preference summary (with "drop" meaning "drop or defer"), and an issue-by-issue summary of the survey responses.

The individual issue summaries were calculated as follows:

CDD09-01	Centralized Trash Enclosure Requirements for Attached Housing
Votes	23
Defer votes	4
Drop votes	0
Average rank by participants	6.42 out of 18
Drop-weighted average rank	8.61 out of 18
Interest score	17th of 18 issues	very low surveyed interest in this issue
Community ranking	8th of 18 issues	mid-level interest in ranking this issue
Drop-weighted community ranking	5th of 18 issues	high interest in ranking once items are dropped
Defer/drop score	17th of 18 issues	very little interest in dropping/deferring
Summary	Little interest, moderate ranking, little interest in dropping

Votes	Number of respondents who commented on the issue
Defer votes	Number of respondents who voted to defer
Drop votes	Number of respondents who voted to drop
Average rank by participants	Average of all numeric rankings, ignoring "drop" and "defer"
Drop-weighted average rank	Average of all numeric rankings, with "drop" and "defer" being a negative factor in ranking (can cause "2.68 out of 2 issues" to happen)
Interest score	Ranking within department in terms of number of respondents
Community ranking	Ranking within department in terms of average rank
Drop-weighted community ranking	Ranking within department in terms of drop-weighted score
Defer/drop score	Ranking within department in terms of number of drops/defers
Summary	Brief attempt to correlate all responses

Important Notes

This survey should not be treated as "representing Sunnyvale's residents' positions". The number of respondents, the nature of the survey web page, and the methods used to summarize the results do not come close to meeting the statistical requirements for a representative sampling. This can instead be viewed as "the collective opinion of 50 of Sunnyvale's more involved online residents". EXTREME CAUTION MUST BE USED, to avoid reading too much significance in these results.

The terms used in the survey - "low", "high", "general preference" should be qualified as "relative to other issues, as expressed by the respondents", and should not be taken to indicate community-wide characterization.

The survey was designed and released as a snapshot as of January 5th. The actual Study Issues process continues to be fluid, with recommendations and complete study issues changing up until the date of the Workshop. As such, conditions which caused a specific survey response have changed in some cases since the survey was issued.

This summary was drafted by a newly-elected councilperson, who is (unsurprisingly) under extreme time constraints. As such, insufficient time was available to properly error-check the results. This summary may well be rife with errors, typos, and spelling and grammatical mistakes. The author apologizes for any such instances.

The methods used to score and summarize the results are not straightforward, given the nature of the responses being "rank" or two different "vote not to rank" options. The scoring methods may therefore not be the most appropriate ways to summarize the results. The raw survey results, with identities removed, have been provided as an appendix, so that individuals can crunch the results themselves if they so desire.

All but two departments have only a few study issues. As such, saying "respondents prefer dropping" or other such statements have little significance. Those terms are "relative to other department issues", and when a department only has two issues, there may very well be strong support for both issues - just less for one of the two. The relative terms are best considered for the CDD and DPW study issues, where the departments have many issues, and where the number is likely to cause some to fall below the line due to resource constraints.
